

UPDATE always arrives the beginning of the month but we thought you might like to know about two programs that have re-opened for a very short period.

CANEXPORT SMEs

The CanExport SMEs program supports export efforts of Canadian companies who are primary producers, or key players in the exportation, of Canadian goods and services into new international markets. The program funds Canadian companies up to $50,000 for international business development activities that have the potential to contribute significantly to Canada's economic growth.

The program is competitive and applications are closed once funds are allocated. Applications are on a first-come, first-served basis. The applicant guide can be found here.

Eligible Canadian small and medium-sized enterprises must:

- be for-profit
- be an incorporated legal entity, LLP or cooperative
- have a CRA business number
- employ fewer than 500 full-time equivalent employees
- have $100,000-$100 million in revenue in Canada (past fiscal year)

CANEXPORT INNOVATION

CanExport Innovation is designed to promote Canada's international innovation efforts. The program offers grants of up to $75,000 to help companies establish/formalize new collaborative R&D partnerships with foreign partners. The R&D partnerships must be for joint development, adaptation and/or validation of a Canadian technology owned by the applicant and be ready for commercialization within 5 years. The applicant guide is here.

Eligible Canadian small and medium-sized enterprises must:

- be registered in Canada
- have a CRA business number
- own, co-own, or have decision-making authority over the IP
- have a prototype (Technology Readiness Level 4 or higher)
- intend to commercially launch the technology within 5 years
