SPACE TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The Canadian Space Agency's Space Technology Development Program supports the growth of the Canadian space industry. The program provides contracts and non-repayable contributions in three main areas: Research, Space Awareness, and Space Learning.

The CSA frequently publishes Announcements of Opportunity targeting a wide audience across a broad range of topics, including food, health, technology, earth observation, the moon, and more. All TRL levels are represented and projects range from months to several years. A partnership with the European Space Agency opens up even more opportunities.

CENGN - CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE IN NEXT GENERATION NETWORKS

CENGN has developed eight Living Labs across Canada to support Canadian startups and scaleups looking to prepare their innovative network technology products for market entry, commercial growth, and industry adoption. This initiative is supported by a $45 million investment from the Federal Government's Strategic Response Fund (SRF).

CENGN Living Labs drive nationwide digital transformation for key Canadian economic sectors. Living Labs include Smart Mobility, Robotics, Smart Building, 5G Advancement.

DID YOU KNOW ...

in September 2023 we looked at the Sustainable CAP a $3.5-billion, five-year federal/provincial agreement to strengthen the agricultural sector. The program continues to March 2028 and seeks to advance five important sector priorities: Building sector capacity, growth and competitiveness • Climate change and environment • Science, research and innovation • Market development and trade • Resiliency and public trust.
